

Summer School
«The Future of Human Rights in Europe»
18-23 July, 2016
Nuoro, Sardinia (Italy)

The Faculty of Law of Sassari University and the Association for the Promotion of University Studies in Central Sardinia (Consorzio per la promozione degli Studi universitari nella Sardegna centrale), in collaboration with the Town Council of Nuoro, the Italian Council for the European Movement, Europe Direct and the Nuoro Chamber of Commerce, are pleased to offer a Summer School on «The Future of Human Rights in Europe» to be held in Nuoro from 18th to 23rd July, 2016.

There is increasing recognition of the urgent need to deepen understanding of issues linked to the protection of fundamental human rights. This is no longer a topic for a few specialists, but has rather become a key social and legal area which no branch of the legal profession can afford to ignore.

The Summer School is an advanced course which will focus on in-depth examination of recent developments in the treatment of fundamental human rights in Europe. Particular attention will be paid to the protective instruments of the Council of Europe and of the European Union and how these work together, to the accession of the European Union to the European Convention of Human Rights, and to the relationships between the various courts.

Study sessions will provide an opportunity to review the future of human rights protection in a variety of contemporary social contexts through the perspective of recent rulings from the European Court of Human Rights.

One day will be spent onsite at the top security prison of Nuchis (Tempio) which is located close to Nuoro. This day will focus on the rehabilitative function of prison sentencing. The visit will include discussion with a group of prisoners.

TARGET AUDIENCE

The Summer School is aimed at undergraduate and graduate students, including ERASMUS exchange students, solicitors, barristers and other members of the legal professions, civil servants, representatives of NGOs in the human rights sector and all who wish to improve their knowledge of international and European human rights protection.

The course will have a minimum of 20 and a maximum of 40 participants. 10 places are reserved for students of the University of Sassari (either Sassari or Nuoro sections).

SCHOLARSHIPS AND CERTIFICATE OF ATTENDANCE

At the end of the course, two scholarships of 350 Euros each will be awarded for a study trip to Strasbourg in October 2016. The study trip will provide scholarship holders with the opportunity to participate actively (as far as is permitted) in the work of the Council of Europe, the European Court of human rights and the plenary sessions of the European Parliament. An Academic committee, consisting of 3 of the course teachers, will award the scholarships based on an evaluation of the practical work carried out by participants during the Summer School.

A certificate of attendance will be issued at the end of the Summer School.
