Saal A Meeting Room in the Ministry of Cooperation (BMZ)

PRACTICE is a global initiative that gathers scientists and stakeholders from drylands worldwide to combine local and scientific knowledge to combat desertification.

PRACTICE addresses this challenge integrating evaluation of prevention and restoration practices and knowledge transfer in a process defined by both scientists and stakeholders in an iterative manner.

PRACTICE involves research teams and stakeholder platforms in 12 countries. There are monitoring sites in the Mediterranean Europe (Greece, Italy, Spain, Portugal), Africa (Morocco, Namibia, South Africa), Middle East (Israel), China, and South and North America (Chile, Mexico, USA).
